Family of Five Nearly Perish

PETERS CREEK:

O.W. Lowe of mile 23 and his family narrowly escaped death when they were overcome by gas escaping from a coal range last Thursday, October 15th.

The Lowes had been living in a tent when the cold weather forced them to move into the partially finished basement of the house they are building.

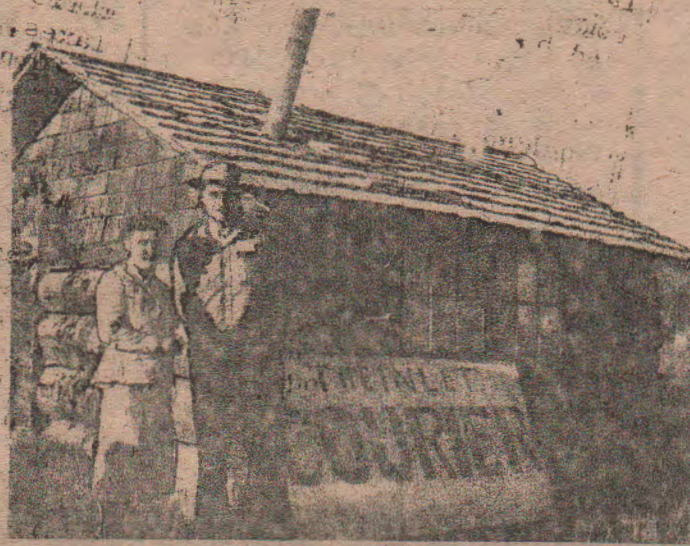

The second-hand coal, wood & oil combination range which they had purchased seemed to be using the fuel too rapidly, and Mr. Lowe (Bill) removed the stove lids to slow the burning. However he neglected to replace them before retiring, and the improper draft caused partial combustion and the formation of deadly coal gas.

Probably the only thing that prevented the entire family from dying in their sleep was the fact that they were all in sleeping bags, with their faces partially covered.

The first they realized that something was wrong was one of the children, 12 year old Kitty, felt ill and upon getting out of bed breathed deeply of the gas and collapsed on the floor.

Mr. Lowe attempting to assist the child also collapsed. His wife, Cindy, after attempting to help, finally managed to make her way to the home of a neighbor, Norris Tiensvoldt, who also fortunately happened to be a member of the Chug-

Man accidentally shoots wife

JIM McDOWELL, NEWLY ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE TO PUBLICIZE HOMER AS SITE FOR CAPITAL AND HIS WIFE MARIE, IN FRONT OF THE OFFICE OF THE INLET COURIER IN HOMER.

FIRE LAKE: Mrs. Al Smallwood of the Fire Lake Service was accidentally shot in the hip by her husband earlier this week when he mistook her for a prowler.

Mr. Smallwood stated that he was awakened at approximately 2 am Monday morning by the sounds of someone prowling around.

Since the Service Station receipts are usually quite large after a weekend, he was afraid that someone was intent on robbing him and taking his 45 revolver, he went up-stairs to investigate.

JIM McDOWELL TO HEAD PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

HOMER: Jim McDowell, formerly of Chugiak was appointed by the Homer Chamber of Commerce to head a 4 man committee, whose responsibility it will be to publicize the community of Homer as the best possible site for the location of the State Capital.

Jim was the operator of the Moosehorn Trading Post and former editor of the Knik Arm Courier.

He and his wife Marie moved to Homer last August where they are now publishing the Inlet Courier.

Smallwood said that he no sooner was upstairs than he realized the the prowler was in the basement apartment that he had just left.

He returned downstairs, moving quietly, meanwhile, his wife who was unaware of all this had gotten out of bed and switched on the room-light just as he entered the room. Smallwood said he pulled the trigger purely as a reflex upon seeing the light.

He realized the mistake almost immediately, and called the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Co. ambulance who transported Mrs. Smallwood to Providence Hospital, where she is recovering from the wound.

In the excitement the prowler made his escape through the open basement door through which he had entered. However, upon investigation nothing was found to be missing.

VISIT TO HOMER

A recent visit to Jim and Marie McDowell, former Editors of this paper found them very happily settled in their new home.

They have fallen in love
with the sprawling community
on the shores of Katchanuk Bay, and the people of Homer and the surrounding communities have really accepted
the Inlet Courier, which has jumped in a few short months to a circulation of 700 copies.

The office of the Inlet
COURIER would probable qualify for the picture someone on the outside might have
of an Alaskan Newspaper office; for it is located in a tiny cabin of hand hewn logs that is so low at the eaves that Jim has to stay under the ridge pole to stand upright.

Nevertheless the younger resister of this paper is already exerting quite a bit of influence on the people of the peninsular and Jim has been selected to lead a campaign to bring the State Capital to Homer.

Jim and Marie sent regards to all their friends
in Chugiak, and invite anyone who happens to be coming down that way to drop in and visit them.

LOCAL PILOTS AID IN SEARCH FOR LOST AIRCRAFT

Two Pilots from Chugiak
and a number from the Palmer area took part in the search for a plane in which George Hawley and Mr. &
Mrs. John Dryden of Palmer were flying in when they disappeared a week ago Saturday.

Ed Bellringer and Dave Pipple of Chugiak, along with Jack Dodge, Jan Koslosky, Lee Hartley, Jim Woods, Ralph Crowthers,
Jack Whitaker and others from Palmer joined the Anchorage Airmen and 71st
Rescue in an extensive search of the Lake Clark area where the plane had last been seen.

Major Kearney of the 71st
Rescue was based at Tanalian Point on Lake Klark, and from there directed a coordinated search.

Gasoline for the 18 private planes that were searching from that base had been provided by the Anchorage Airmen's Association and had been flown into the Lake Clark Strip by an Air Force C-123.

The participating aircraft were given definite areas to search by the Air Force Co-ordinator and the areas covered ranged from the Mushigak River, south to the south shores of Lake Illiamna and North to the Lime Hills. Also the shores of Cook Inlet
and all bays were scanned.

The failure of the pilot
to file a flight plan made it necessary to search more or less blindly over large areas. (cont page 3

Patrons who come to Besse's Beauty Salon tired and bedraggled can leave rejuvenated
after having a "SUDDEN VEIL LIFT", a entire new type of facial.

A clear liquid is brushed onto the customers face, and while she lays back and relaxes, it magically becomes a thin film of plastic that peels off like a second skin,
taking all the dirt, grime blackheads and weariness with it.

A series of these treatments can restore even the most sallow and lifeless complexion and return the firmness of youth to sagging middle aged faces.

This is but one of the new types of beauty treatment
that may be found at Besse's Beauty Shop.

Although Besse has had over 20 years experience as a beautician, she is as up-to-date on the latest inventions of cosmetology as any new student fresh out of beauty college.

Another of Besse's special-

to hair that has grown dry and started to fall out.

Air Search cont page 2 col 2)

Special mention should be made of Babe and Mary Alsworth, of Port Alsworth who developed the airstrip at Tanalian Point which was used as a base for the search.

Both the Alsworths and their five children worked long hours assisting the searchers.

Sleeping quarters were provided for those who remained over night and hot meals were ready to greet tired pilots returning from a fruitless search.

The Alsworth's invited the pilots into their home and fed them ten at a time in their own dining room.

Mr. Alsworth took charge of refueling the planes as they came in using his tractor to haul the gas drums to the planes.

ponse that was made by the Chugiak Fire Company on the morning our family was nearly overcome by coal gas fumes.

One of our good neighbors called HO-2-5555 (an easy number to remember, by the way), and Art Wallace (assistant chief) and Chief Jess Straight and Fireman Chick LaDoux were at the house almost before we realized they had been called. The three men took very good care of our children, persuading them to drink warm milk, and to put the oxygen mask over their faces, never frightening them at all. We adults were well taken care of too, but, being parents, were more concerned for our children's well-being.

They stayed with us until we were sufficiently recovered to be left in the capable hands of our neighbors, the Tiensvolds. We are proud to live in a community with such fine people.

Our deep gratitude and heartfelt thanks to all of them.

Sincerely
Bill & Cindy Lowe

The victims were given oxygen and other first aid, but it was determined that hospitalization would not be necessary.

PETERS CREEK COMMUNITY CLUB MEETS

The Peters Creek Community Club met Tuesday, Oct. 20th and after a brief business meeting, the members enjoyed an evening of "Alaska's Favoriet game".

This was the first such game in many months, and the members and their guests enjoyed the evening very much.

Among the items of business that were discussed, was the coming participation of the club in the Coming Charity Bazaar, which is to benefit the Public Health Fund.

The Peters Creek Club plans to sell Hot Dogs at the Sidewalk Cafe.

The period of recreation during which the "Favorite Game" is played will very likely become a regular feature of the Peters Creek Club.

The drawing for the door prize was held and for the second time the name of Bud Whaley was drawn, and for the second time, because he was not present, he did not win the skillet.

The car rolled over at least four times before coming to rest at the bottom of the dump. Mary Ann was thrown clear, while the driver, Olson managed to extricate himself from the wreckage. Ceoesbrusco, however suffered a broken shoulder and was unable to leave the vehicle.

Olson managed to hike out to the Highway, where he flagged a car. The driver of the car assisted in helping Collesbrusco from the wreck and took all three young people to Moosehorn, where the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Co. ambulance took over, transporting them to the 5040th AF Hospita.

Aside from minor cuts and bruises Olson and Miss Tofson were uninjured.

Business at your Chugiak Library seems to be picking up, slowly but surely.

We were very happy to receive a donation from another well wisher in the community, Mrs. Pearl Vickrock. This, along with the VFW donation and the subscriptions which are coming in steadily is helping us to meet our expenses. We have had a few questions as to how our utilities are handled and we wish to tell you we are fortunate in getting our rent free, we have our own oil hook-up and our own electric meter and the library is billed direct.

It is great fun to watch the interest the Library developing. We have had a good deal of time donated by Ginny Kirk and for this we are very grateful, she is also acting as Secretary for the Library. Wes Mickey was up the other evening and put in an electrical extension to our Annex for odd books, these still have to be sorted and categorized.

expressed to these fine people.

Ed Bellringer and Pilot of the Chugiak plane and Dave Pipple, the observer were much impressed by the efficiency with which the search was conducted, but were very doubtful that the party was still alive.

They felt that if there was anyone surviving the crash they would have had a fire, and with the weather crystal clear as it was over the weekend, any smoke would have been seen for miles.

Another factor which made the search difficult was that the missing plane, a Stinson Voyager had been painted white, a color that is impossible to spot on a snow-covered landscape.

METHODIST CHURCH TO BEGIN SUNDAY PROGRAMS

Program of community wide interest will begin Sunday Evenings at the Methodist Church.

This Sunday evening, Oct. 25th, at 7 pm, a series of six sessions on "THE CHURCH IN TOWN AND COUNTRY" is to begin.

It is to deal with the problems which face a country community and specifically our community, such as adequate activity for our young people and the Christian answer to these problems.

Rev. Hull, who was the Alaskan delegate to the National Towne and (next col.)

(Methodist Sunday Program) and Country Conference at Wichita Kansas last July, will lead the discussion. All will be given an opportunity to participate in asking and answering questions.

The meetings will be strictly limited to one hour, however all interested in staying later for further discussion may do so.

There will be refreshments served by the Women's Society, which is sponsoring the series. All interested members of the community are cordially invited to these meetings.

ESTABLISHMENT OF REST CAMPS TO BE DISCUSSED

JUNEAU: Governor Egan has made public a memorandum of agreement calling for consultation between the Alaskan Air Command and the State Department of Fish and Game in connection with future military proposals for establishment of rest camps and recreational areas.

Commissioner C. L Anderson says: "IN interest of coordination and conservation of wildlife resources, the Alaskan Command when activating a rest camp or recreation area will seek the comments of Alaska State Department of Fish and Game in all cases where hunting and fishing will be a major activity in the proposed area. Due consideration will be given these comments in determining the advisability of establishing the same or area".

By reason of the agreement, Anderson said, it is hoped the State will be able to persuade the services to place such recreational areas in locations where other hunting and fishing pressures are light.
