LOCAL BUSINESSMAN PASSES AWAY HERE

STOLEN CLOTHING FOUND

PETERS CREEK: A cache of stolen clothing, was discovered by two small boys playing on Mt. Eklutna drive.

The clothing, consist- almost entirely of womens undergarments were identified as some that had been taken from the home of Mrs. Vern Bartram of Mt. Eklutna Drive.

According to Mrs. Bartram, she was not aware at the time that the clothing was missing, but was able to identify them as her own. She also stated that they had been removed from a drawer in her house, indicating that whoever had taken them must have entered her home.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Please print this letter of explanation to the residents of Eagle River and Chugiak.

The gate in Eagle River Valley has been erected for our protection and is locked every day of the year, not just for hunting season.

It is on private property on a privately built and maintained road.

When you leave the base of the big hill you are entering private property.

In the past we've let hunters through, but some have abused the privilege to the extent of target practicing, parking in driveways and fields, peeping toms, breaking into cabins and appropriating sundry objects.

TRAVEL ALASKA

No. 1: Mt. McKinley Park

Having made the trip to Mt. McKinley Park, we now feel justified in recommending it to our readers.

We feel that anyone planning this drive should allow a minimum of four days for the outing. The trip to the park can be made in one day of hard driving or in two days in a more leisurely manner.

The paved road is left behind at Paxson's Lodge on the Richardson Highway, where (next col) the traveler must slow his pace due to road construction.

Here we observe an entirely different type of Alaskan scenery as the road climbs high into the caribou country and we drive for many miles through the bleak beauty of the Denali Highway. Here, even in midsummer, are patches of unmelted snow; often as not amid fields of wildflowers.

Lodges and roadhouses are scattered, but camping and fishing sites are plentiful.

This seemingly deserted country, becomes teeming with activity during the hunting season.

TIPS FOR MILADY

If milady lives in a large house she can save many steps when cleaning by following the system used by chamber maids in large hotels.

Take a small basket, or box with a handle. In this place all of your cleaning supplies; dust-cloth, furniture polish, window cleaner, sponge, can of deoderant etc.

This way you can go from room to room without ever having to retrace your steps to get any of these items from the last room you cleaned.

These items can be stored right in the basket, ready for use at any time.

Shortly before arriving at the park the road plunges down to a lower elevation, where we stop for a moment at the small railroad village of Cantwell.

In this tiny community is an air of excitement and expectancy as the residents anticipate a coming boom to accompany the building of a cement plant in the near future.

In the park itself, we experience the feeling of entering another world, where the animals, trees and even the wildflowers are protected.

Upon checking in at the ranger station at the park entrance the visitor is acquainted with the rules and regulations they must observe during their stay.

The McKinley Park Hotel offers luxurious accommodations for those who wish them, but the average visitor will prefer to stop at one of the numerous campgrounds.

These are all very well kept and some even boast modern inside restrooms with running water.

Wildlife abounds in the park, and may be seen at all times. These can range from the hundreds of parka squirrels that inhabit the campgrounds to the mighty grizzly bears.

The only road through the park winds for almost a hundred miles, crossing high ridges and through breathtaking passes.

Here we observed hundreds of Park caribou and although wolves are considered rare, we saw two.

The mountain for which the park is named may be seen on clear days. Unfortunately such was not the case during our visit. Mighty McKinley remained shrouded in clouds during the two days of our visit.

An interesting game to play while in the park is to observe the license tags of the cars of the other visitors and see how many of the other fifty states are represented and which is the farthest away. One item of interest among the tourists was the large percentage of elderly couples that were touring.

(travel)

McKinley Park is in our own back yard, so to speak, and Alaskans who do not make the trip at least once are robbing themselves of a very wonderful experience.

The clothes were found carefully arranged next to an abandoned foundation in a lot near the Bartram home.

A second cache of clothing, also consisting of women's garments was found some days later in the woods not far from the first location. Mrs. Bartram was able to identify part of these as her own, but several pieces did not belong to her.

It appeared to Mrs. Bartrams husband and another neighbor who examined the second cache that someone might possibly be camping in that vicinity.

Mrs. Bartram added that with the exception of a small bottle of wine, nothing else appeared to be missing from her home.

State police were notified in the case of both finds and are investigating.

Parents of small children residing on Mt. Eklutna drive have been keeping their children close to home since the incident came to light.

the Eagle River Fire Company, or mail it to the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company or bring it to the Wallace Concrete Products Plant if they live in the area served by the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company.

Subscription rates are ten dollars per year for the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company, and twelve dollars per year for the Eagle River Fire Company.

Tell it to Martha

BY MARTHA COUNCIL

Dear Martha,
Speaking about camp cooks, how do you explain my husband?

When we go camping or hunting I hardly have to lift a finger.

My husband insists on doing every thing, you'd think I never even boiled water in my life to hear him talk.

But at home! Just let me ask him to lend a hand, no matter how big a bind I'm in. He growls about "women's work" and bury's his nose in his paper.

Why isn't it "women's work" when we're out camping?

Queen of the Camp

Dear Queen,

I can't be sure if you're bragging or complaining.

You should read the letters we have received from some other "camp queens." Their husbands bring them along just to have someone to do the camp K.P.

As far as cooking at home, it is women's work. However, a real man isn't afraid of any permanent scars from occasionally doing women's work, any more than a woman is from doing a mans job if it is necessary and she is up to it.

If you are truly in a need of help at home once in a while, it wouldn't hurt your husband to show you that you are his "Queen" no matter where you are.

Sincerely,
Martha Council

The amount is to be awarded equally to two students each year, with preference being given to Alaskan residents.

Mr. Harold Ellers, manager of Sears Roebuck in Alaska, said "By beginning this scholarship at Alaska Methodist University, the Sears Roebuck Foundation intends to provide greater opportunity for outstanding young people to develop their potential for academic achievement and community leadership."

Dr. Fred P. McGinnis, President of the University, acknowledged the grant on the part of the Sears Roebuck Foundation said, "This initial grant will certainly provide need-incentive for deserving students to seek a college education at Alaska Methodist University."

ONE INJURED IN THREE CAR COLLISION

CHUGIAK: A out of state driver from Colorado suffered a fractured elbow, following a three car collision which occurred here yesterday.

Injured was Leslie Lee Gorrood, driving a 1963 Olesmobile.

Gorrood was following Ted Eaks of mile 21 1/2, when the latter brought his 1961 Volvo to a stop.

Gorrood managed to stop his car, but Louis Raymond Harrison, of Palmer who was driving behind Gorrood was unable to stop and rammed the rear of the Gorrood car with his 1959 Chevrolet Sedan causing him to crash into the Eaks vehicle.

None of the other parties involved were injured.

Harrison was cited for following too closely.

PERMITS NECESSARY FOR BISON HUNT

JUNEAU: Hunters desiring to participate in the bison hunt which will be held in October should obtain an application now, game officials said this week.

The applications are available from all Alaska department of fish and game offices.

Up to 20 non-productive bison will be harvested from the Delta Junction herd starting October 5.

Permit applicants must possess a valid hunting license when applying, and they must enter their hunting license number upon the application.

The applications should be mailed to the Alaska Department of Fish and Game, 604 Barnette Street, Room 116, Fairbanks Alaska.

The drawing will be held in Fairbanks in early September.

The lucky 20 will be notified as soon as the drawing is completed.

The hunt, which will start on October 5, will be supervised by Alaska department of fish and game personnel, and only selected non-productive animals will be taken.

The bison herd is estimated to contain about 300 animals, and at present is believed to be in balance with the existing range.

Past management efforts have reduced the conflict between farmers and bison and apparently as evidenced by this year's very good calf crop, stimulated increased productivity.

Fire can destroy the Bond...but not the savings

All that the owner of this charred U. S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give—serial number, and date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.

The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. In the past 20 years they've replaced over 1,300,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U. S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government always knows when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.

This assurance against loss is another of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $46 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

U. S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where you bank or work.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity • You can get your money anytime • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings
