EAGLE RIVER MAN DIES IN PLANE CRASH

EAGLE RIVER: Funeral Services are being held today in Grady New Mexico, for Ralph Hutchison, of Eagle River who was killed Thanksgiving day in the crash of his light airplane in Pippels field at mile 14.

Hutchison, had taken off for a short flight and had attained an altitude of only 250 feet when the engine of 1948 Areonca Champion quit. The plane was in a stalled attitude and plunged to the ground making a 180 degree turn and ending up on its nose.

Roy Hutchison, cousin of the dead pilot, said that when he and Wilford Charles, of Fire Lake arrived at the crashed plane Hutchison appeared to be dead.

The ambulance of the Eagle River Volunteer Fire Company was summoned, and took Hutchison to the 5040th Air Force Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Hutchison had been flying since 1946 and held a private pilots license. He had purchased the plane only six weeks prior to the accident.

Hutchison, who was employed as a plasterer is survived by his father Grant Hutchison of Birchwood, and three children, Larryll, Denise 7, and Debra 5.

EAGLE RIVER: The Eagle River Volunteer Fire Company Rescue Wagon responded to a call at the Eagle River Bowl last night, where they found Mrs. Kermit Ivanof, of mile 15 collapsed suffering from severe stomach pains.

Mrs. Ivanoff had collapsed while bowling. She was rushed in the ambulance to the ANS Hospital in Anchorage, where she was discovered to be suffering from an attack of apendicitis.

She underwent an emergency apendectomy. Word of her condition was not readily available. Her husband is employed by ACS.

Mrs. Curtis presented the trophy to the musher of the first place team, who was Joe Reddington, mushing a team which belonged to the Army at Ft. Richardson.

Reddington ran the seven mile course in 27 minutes 41 seconds. Second place went to Orville Lee, with a time of 34.27.

Third place was won by Orin Bowles of Chugiak, with a time of 34.48.

HERE AND THERE
By R. Fleming

In England, the other day, a couple of gals jerked the pants off a gent and tossed him into the pond because of a disparaging remark or two the same gent had made about ladies in general. After the ducking, he offered a damp apology. Obviously there's a moral somewhere in this, and I've often wondered what happens in private to men who are wont to vent their anti-woman peevy in public.

It's especially interesting to read the comments (and apparently this happens about twice yearly in the slick magazines) of a traveller from Europe who has become an Expert on American Women after being here two weeks. And twice annually (more or less) it also happens that the feminine visitor has to proclaim her feeling about the American Male.

Charming tidbits. There are also the commentaries on children. I recall one little goodie (in this case fiction) that came from a short novel of several years past and which I want to remember as being

(NEXT COL)

The Angel, but could be something else. In this story, an American has explained to this lovely, mature French lady the multitudinous activities we Americans sponsor for our youth (and such a list can be rather long.) When finished, he asked the lady what the Franch did to keep their youth busy. With appropriate hauteur, the dame replied, "We always thought it was sufficient just to be young!"

Since a mere kid, licking the remains of cream of tartar from the paper can in which it came in those days, I have known what cream of tartar is. That is, I knew it was used in various cooking projects, especially in the making of cakes. At the moment, I don't recall the reason, but not too long ago, something prompted me to find out what it actually is. Since doing a quick piece of reasearch, I've questioned several people about this stuff and the answers have been interesting, in some case amusing, and always inaccurate. C of T is not a simple product such as grinding corn to get meal or drying grapes to get raisins, and since learning what it is, I've been wondering how in the world anyone ever got the idea of processing C of T. It is the product of the wine industry. As the grape juice is standing in the container (on the way to becoming wine), crystals of tartar called argols are formed and cling to the side of the container. This argols are collected and are treated by repeated crystallization and decolorization. Results: cream of tartar, also known as potassium hydrogen tartrate.

When you have a spare moment, take your pencil and write in numerals the following number: twelve thousand twelve hundred twelve.

To those who like to read adventure authentic, Alaskan and exciting, I heartily recommend "Fifty Years Below Zero", by Charles D. Brower.

LOCAL RESIDENTS INVITED TO TAKE PART IN
"OPERATION SANTA CLAUS"

CHUGIAK: Residents of the Greater Chugiak Area have been invited to participate in "Operation Santa Claus", sponsored by the Alaska Air National Guard.

Santa's helpers - The officers and Airmen of the 144th Air Transport Squadron, Alaska Air National Guard are busy making plans to assist the Old Boy again this year.

The mechanics are busy checking the routes and everyone else at Kulis ANG Base giving enthusiastic support for the annual airlift of "Operation Santa Claus".

Donations, by Anchorage and vicinity residents to the kids at St. Mary's Mission.

Santa and his reindeer cannot make the trip up to St. Marys, so the Air National Guard takes his place and the roar of Aircraft engines landing on the frozen Andreafsky River has come to mean the same as the sounds Santa makes on his rounds.

The Air Guardsmen are again asking your help in filling the airplane for the annual trip. Toys, clothing, books etc that have outlived their usefulness at your house will find new life at the mission and bring the spirit of Christmas to a lot of kids.

Foodstuff, any type, canned or otherwise are always a welcome gift. Fresh fruit and vegetables are always welcome during the winter months and especially at Christmas.

A special request by the kids last year was for used ice skates. The skates they had were all destroyed during the disastrous fire of March 1963.

St. Marys Mission is located on the Andreafsky River, which drains into the lower Yukon, west of Bethel. The Mission is a combination school and orphanage for Eskimo and native children, with approximately 250 in attendance at all times. The Mission school is operated by the Jesuit Order of the Catholic Church, under the supervision of Father R. Astruc.

(Next col)

(Santa)

Teachers from the order, as well as volunteer lay teachers who serve without pay, teach Grades 1 thru 12.

Complete educational services are available to the students. The facilities are not the best, however, the spirit is and the kids are given an opportunity they would not otherwise have.

Gifts and donations may be left at any of the city Fire Departments, Spenard Fire Department, or in the case of residents of the Greater Chugiak Area at either the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Hall at mile 18 3/4 or at the Eagle River Fire Hall on Cornado Drive.

Local residents who may have donations they wish to have picked up may call either Fire Chief Take of the Eagle River Volunteer Fire Company at 694-2256 or General

(Next col)

(Santa)

Supply at 694-2525, or Chief Kuphaldt of the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company at 674-8693, Captain John Boyles at 674-5757 or Moosehorn Service at 674-5390.

Operation Santa Claus, airlift to St. Marys Mission is tentatively scheduled on or about December 20, 1964.

Although the Air National Guard has adopted St. Marys Mission as their particular project for Christmas, they cooperate with other agencies airlifting supplies and gifts to other remote communities.

In addition to this, if St. Marys Mission receive more than they can use, they share with other villages and missions along the Yukon River and in the vicinity.

By 1965 Jackson, Miss., will have a quarter million population.

IN THE KNIK ARM COURIER,
DATED, NOVEMBER 18th, 1964

Although it is not the policy of the Courier to write testimonials or to give consumer reports on products, we feel that a product new to Alaska is so exceptional that we would like to share our enthusiasm with our readers.

We are referring to the new metal studded snow tires which are being so highly advertised at this time.

Many of our friends have asked us if these tires are really as good as advertised. We now feel that we have had an opportunity to test them and can say, "Yes, they sure are!"

To the average timid female driver, a pair of these tires amounts to taking a dose of instant courage.

The tire grip on wet icy pavement such as was experienced last weekend, and we never experienced a skid, weave or bobble, as we drove the Glenn Highway from one end of Chugiak to the other.

In spots where we could see drivers with conventional tires having considerable difficulty keeping the back end of their cars from getting ahead of their front ends, we skimmed along as though the pavement was dry.

We purchased a pair of snow grip tires with the metal studs already imbedded in them. Those who already have a good set of snow tires may have the metal studs inserted in them at a fairly small cost.

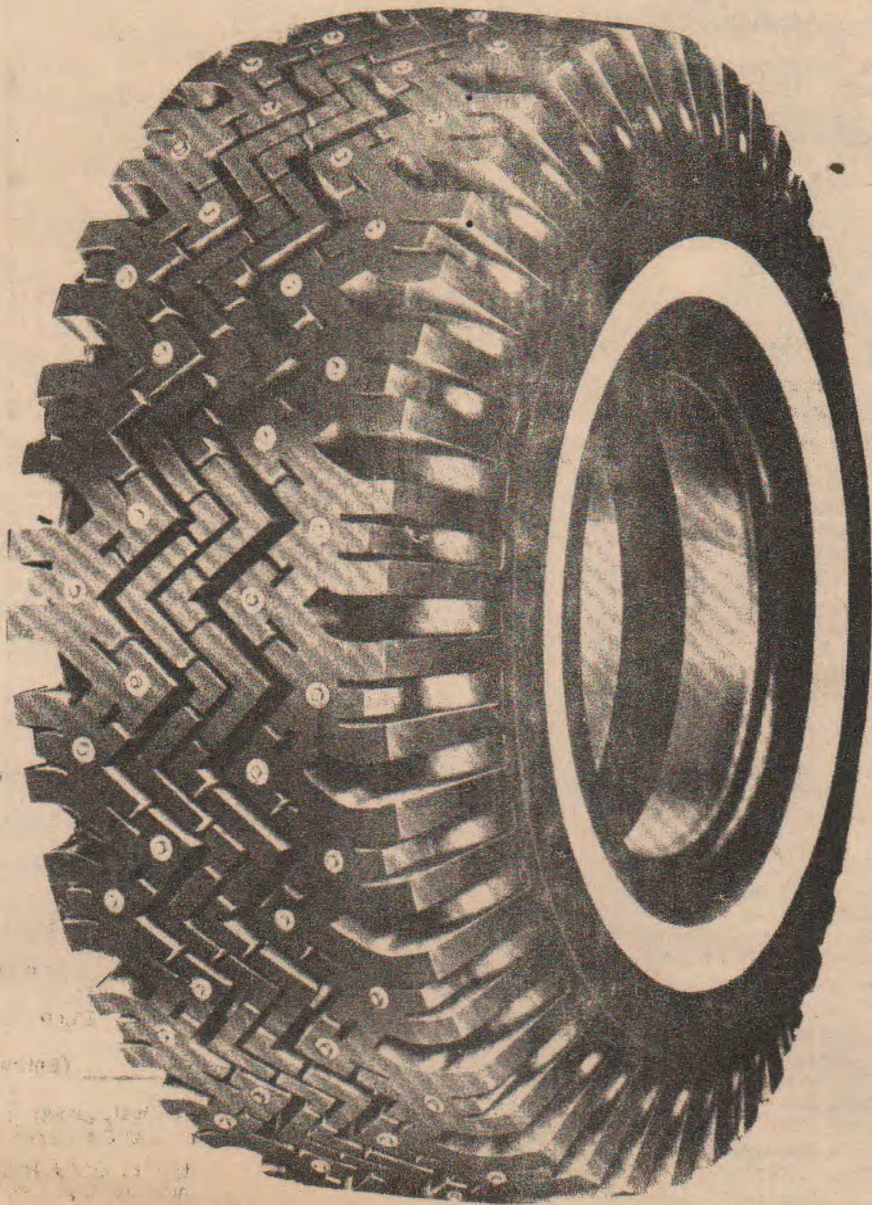

The cost of the new tires is, of course, higher than conventional winter tires, but the very first time a car slides into a ditch and has to be towed out, the new tires have already been paid for.

We have the studded tires only on our rear wheels. We are told that if studded tires are put on the front wheels also, they are even more effective.

We have not yet had the opportunity to try these tires in deep soft snow, so we are unable to report on their effectiveness there.

However, they have the advantage over tire chains in that they do not bother the driver when they are not needed, but as soon as they are necessary, there they are, ready to go to work with no further effort.

We predict that within the year, almost every car in Alaska will be using these new tires, and soon they will be as standard to winter driving as is anti-freeze.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ELIGIBLE FOR HOME MAKING TEST

CHUGIAK:

A program which has attracted a total enrollment of more than three and a half million girls during the past decade will find senior girls in high school here taking a knowledge and attitude examination on homemaking Tuesday, December 1.

They are among a half million girls in more than 14,000 of the nation's high schools who are participating in the 1965 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

At stake are awards ranging from attractive pins to $110,000 in scholarships. The program is the only national scholarship competition exclusively for high school senior girls.

The local winner will be the girl who scores highest in the 50-minute test. She will receive an award pin and her paper will be eligible for state competition. The highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in each state then will receive a $1,500 scholarship. Her school will be presented a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. Each state runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

Next spring, state Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow, each with a school advisor, will be guests on an expense-paid educational tour to Colonial Williamsburg, Va.; Washington, D.C.; and New York City. The trip will culminate with the naming of the 1965 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her scholarship will be raised to $5,000 with national runners-up receiving scholarships, respectively, raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Judging for national honors is on the basis of original test scores of state winners plus personal observation and interviews during the tour.

General Mills, Inc., launched the Betty Crocker Search in the 1954-55 school year to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career. More than a million dollars in scholarships has been awarded. The examination each year is prepared by Science Research Associates, Chicago, which also is in charge of scoring papers and judging.

Nick Kranovich's foolproof plan for saving money

How an electric shovel engineer saved something every payday for 23 years . . . with very little effort.

Nick Kranovich, a longtime employee of the Nevada Mines Division of Kennecott Copper Corporation, has been salting away a little in savings every payday since 1941.

Which should interest you, since he raised 8 children in that time and handled the same expenses you probably wrestle with.

His method is the Payroll Savings Plan. A savings plan that's foolproof because it's so easy.

His paymaster sets aside a small amount from Mr. Kranovich's pay check and puts it toward the purchase of a U. S. Savings Bond. So Mr. Kranovich saves automatically.

If he chooses to collect his nest egg at maturity, he'll find it has grown $\frac{1}{2}$ fatter with interest, and more if he holds it longer. In the meantime, his Bond dollars have helped Uncle Sam preserve his right to spend his savings as he wishes.

A savings plan that works so well for Nick Kranovich (and millions of other payroll savers) is bound to work for you.

Just tell your paymaster you want to try it. Your savings will come automatically.

"Own a share in America," urges Frank R. Milliken, Chairman of the U. S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee, and President of the Kennecott Copper Corporation.

"You build a better future for yourself in two ways when you buy U. S. Savings Bonds. As well as setting aside money that may help out in an emergency, for your children's education or your own retirement, you invest in America. Your Bond dollars help provide a stable base for our nation's debt management policy, and help avert the danger of inflation or deflation."

FIRST AID FOR DAMAGED SHRUBS

PALMER:

Ornamental trees and shrubs damaged by the recent snow storm should be properly pruned soon, according to Leland Cade, district Extension agent. A tree is a living organism that responds to treatment when it becomes damaged. The health of a tree is impaired if branches are broken and stems cracked, or if roots are damaged.

Tree health is affected when moisture can evaporate from tissues, or when organisms can invade tissues. Treatment should be designed to minimize the evaporation of moisture and the invasion of rot producing organisms.

Broken branches on trees should be cut off with a sharp saw and the wound covered with pruning paint or roofing tar. Wounds not taken care of promptly will dry out, allow the wood to split, and allow the entry of dirt and rotting organisms. The sooner wounds are properly treated, the better the health of the plant will be protected.

Trees that were badly bent during the storm can be braced into the desired position. Braces should be attached so that the protective bark is not broken.

A bulletin is available at the extension office on pruning ornamentals, Cade concluded.

Only one percent of castor oil production is used for medicinal purposes.
