EKLUTNA: Roy Ondola of Birchwood Road was held blameless in a collis-ion which occurred at 1:50pm on July 25th at the intersection of the Glenn Highway and the Eklutna Village Road.

Ondola, who is presently home on leave from the army, was turning from the highway onto the Village Road when a 1962 Volvo, driven by Manola Barner of Anchorage struck his car.

Mrs. Barner had been passing another car at the time, and said she did not see the Ondola vehicle.

Damage to the Volvo was estimated at $300, to Ondola's 1958 Chevrolet at $100.

Mrs. Braner was cited for failure to sound her horn.

Systematic Payroll Savings in U. S. Savings Bonds has proved, since 1941, to be a most convenient way for employees to invest not only in a better future for themselves and their families, but also in helping to keep America strong.

CAUTION URDED IN USE PESTICIDES

PALMER: "Pesticides are poison-ous and must be used and stored properly is they are to be ahelp instead of a hazard,"Leland Cade, district extension agend said this week. Every household has a number of them around, so everyone in the household should know how to treat them with

The first repirement in the use of pesticides is to read the label. When the label says "poison", treat it as a poison. Depending upon the chemical, pesticides may be harful if fumes are inhaled, if the chemical gets on the skin, or if taken orally.

The second requirement is to use as directed. If the label directs its use where there is adequate ventilation, then don't use it where there is no ventilation, such as in a closed room, The third requirement for the safe use of chemicals is to store them properly. Store where child-ren cannot experiment with them. Store in their original containers.

Store away from food. And when the container is empy dispose of it properly. Pressure containers, for example should not be thrown into a fire, because they will explode. "Pesticides, like the automoble, are sueful as long as we sue them properly," Cade concluded.

THE ROAD TO KODIAK

JUNEAU:: Suddenly there's a highway to Kodiak Island. Not the concrete, four-lane, bumper-to-bumper variety of highway, but instead it's another Alaskan "Marine Highway." This one connects Kodiak Island and the mainland by means of a brand new, giant ocean-going ferry named the M/V Tustumena.

already serve the panhandle region of Alaska, the vessel offers motorists and walk-on passengers a range of shippoard beatures including 19 state-rooms (available but not mandatory, if passengers prefer to snooze in reclining chairs), dining-cocktail room, observation quarters and of course observation quarters and of course some of the most spectacular sea-going scenery in the world.

The Tustumena, named for a mamoth glacier on the Kenai Peninsula, will carry 200 passengers and 67 autos. She will operate at a top speed of 15 She will operate at a top speed of 15 knots, which is more than 17 miles per hour, and will utilize a cres of

The three principal ports of call on the mainland -- Anchorage, Seward and Homer -- are accessible at the present time by Alaska state highways (though roads to the later two points are undergoing reconstruction) AND ALL THREE ARE ADDITIONAL BY SCHEDULED AIRLINES. Anch largest city in Alaska, is also accessible by rail from Fairbanks.

Kodiak Island, home of the famous Kodiak Brown Bear, is also the site of Alaska's earliest Russian settlement. Kodiak city, in fact, was founded in 1792 by Alexander Baranoi who leter extended the Russian influence throughout the coast of Alaska and even to Chalifornia. Wealth of early Russian "Alaskana" in the form of Orthodox cathedrals, buildings, and even the decendents of the Russians themselves, may still be found in Kodiak and on the peninsula as well.

present schedule calls for the ship to sail twice weekly from Seward to Kodiak to Homer to Kodiak and return to Seward. Once a week the Kod-iak-Homer leg will extend to Anchor-age and calls will also be made on a flag-stop basis to Seldovia.

Some fares for passengers aboard the ship include: Kodiak to Homer, $L) the ship include Kodiak to Homer, $10, $10 to Seward, $13.50 and to Anchorage $20.50. Kodiak-mainland charges for standard size autos very from Winter survival will be improved if the grass is allowed to grow to a height of about three to four mehes before a severe frest ocenough in the fall so that the grass can go into the winter in good condition.

Each spring the lawn should be fertilized with a mixture of ten to twelve pounds of a 10-20-10 fertilizer and four to five pounds of ammonium nitrate, or their equivalent, for every 1,000 square feet.

Apply the fertilizer before growin begins; late in April is a good time. Supplement in mid-summer with an application of about five pounds of ammonium nitrate, or its equivalent, per 1,000 square ft.

When the grass begins to slow down in the rate of growth and turns a yellowish color it needs more fertilizer especially nitrogen.

Apply fertilizers very evenly or you will have a patchy and streaked lawn. The use of a small fertilizer spreader is recommended; however, if one is not available,

Mixing the fertilizer with sand before hand-spreading will help in getting a uniform appli-cation. Always apply fertilizer when the grass is dry to avoid burning the leaves.
