ART SHOW WINNERS ANNOUNCED.

BIRCHWOOD: The Chugiak Centennial Art Show, which was held over the past weekend at Chugiak High School, was an apparent success, and greatly enjoyed by local residents, as well as those from neighboring cities who visited it.

The show, the first event of its kind to be held in the Greater Chugiak Area, was sponsored as a Centennial project by the Chugiak Ladies Club. The show had almost 100 individual pictures entered and close to 1,000 persons came to see the exhibit during the three days it was on display.

The winning paintings were chosen by popular vote on the first and second day of the show, with the ribbons on display on Sunday, the third day.

Ft. RICH: The local sanitary fill again made the local headlines when a number of local residents went to dump their trash this weekend.

The area, located within the Ft. Richardson military reservation had been recently publicized as a free public dump, open twenty-four hours a day.

Complaints poured into the Borough office, to the Knik Arm Courier and to Glenn Briggs, representative of the Chugiak Benefit Association from people who either had found the dump locked, or encountered an individual who demanded payment for the privilege of dumping.

The dump area is under lease by the BLM to the Chugiak Benefit Association. CBA several years ago had entered into an agreement with John Grasse of Anchorage to maintain the sanitary fill. Recently, CBA had contacted the GAAB and proposed that they take over the dump, as Grasse did not appear to be living up to his terms of the agreement. The Borough had advanced $1,000 from the contingency fund to clean up the area and keep the trash covered and filled as an interim measure until a service area could be established at the next election.

CBA had then entered into a contract with Mr. Ramerd and Mr. Roteman of Hyland Hills to clean up, and keep the dump covered and filled on a twice monthly basis, at the rate of $20 per hour.

The mixup this past weekend, was apparently caused when Grasse moved back, and was trying to charge for the use of the dump.

Briggs stated today that Grasse has received a letter from CBA notifying him that the agreement has been terminated due to his failure to comply with even minimum requirements of the agreement.

Briggs advised local residents that the dump is open on a twenty-four hour basis and is free to the public.

He stated that in the event anyone should find the dump again closed off, or if someone is attempting to collect a dumping fee, to contact him immediately.

He reminded local residents that the dump will be kept open on a trial basis providing the public observe and respect the following simple rules. 1. No dumping or dropping of materials of any kind except at the dump site. 2. No disposal of junk cars or car bodies along the road or at the dump site. 3. No burning except by authorized persons, no shooting along the road or at the dump site.

GROUP PLANS TO RESTORE OLD KNIK

A Centennial project with Pied-Piper appeal was set to get going officially on April 16, at the site of the old town of Knik about 14 miles from Wasilla. This was an organizational meeting in the Old Knik pool hall of FRONTIERS, Inc. The title is an acronym for "(Alaska) Foundation for the Restoration and Organization of New Tourist Interests and Entertainment and Recreational Sites."

Prime movers for the organization and its ambitions are old timers in the Wasilla area, the Matanuska-Susitna Centennial Committee AND Borough, Joe Redington Sr. (who helped spark the Iditarod Trail Dog sled Race), Journalist Ellis Taylor, and a pass of students both high school and college and military families who've gotten wind of the ideas.

Basic plans at present include erecting a boomtown false front structure and a band stand by Memorial Day. These will serve as rallying points for an old-fashioned holiday picnic.

There is talk, too, of operating a passenger launch across Cook's Inlet, or, more precisely, Knik Arm, to the old landing. If this is not feasible, perhaps landings may be made at the

LOCAL BASEBALL TEAMS OFF TO A GOOD START

CHUGIAK: Little League practice is under way, and it appears that next year the community will have to plan on two additional teams for the Greater Chugiak Area.

C.A. TO HOLD SLAVE DAY AND CAR WASH

OLD CHUGIAK: The C.A. Young People's group of the Chugiak Chapel, are attempting to raise enough money to send their Bible Quiz team to the competition in Portland Oregon.

Two projects have been planned for this purpose. The group will hold a car wash at Danny's Union 76 service station in Eagle River on Saturday May 13th. The car wash will begin at 10:00am, and the charge for washing a car will be $2.00. There will be an additional charge for waxing the car.

The second project, is a "Slave Day." The youngsters will hire them- pay to go to the C.A. Group. Boys will do yard work, etc, and girls will baby-sit, iron or help with house work. They will work for $1.00 or $1.25 per hour depending on the type of work.

Anyone wishing to hire a slave after school or on the weekend is asked to call Mrs. French at 688-6301 or to call the Chugiak Chapel.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR LDS CHAPEL MOVED

PETERS CREEK: The Chugiak Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, are a little closer to having their own house of worship this week.

Last Wednesday morning three sections of a large barracks type building were inched through the railings of the Peters Creek bridge, up the hill and finally up the narrow twisting Ski Road to the site where the church will be located on the Sterling Whaley homestead. There the three sections will be joined on a foundation which is waiting for them and become the Chugiak LDS Chapel.

The sections of building, (which had been used for a church in Anchorage) were only three inches narrower than the space between the bridge railings, and gave everyone a few anxious moments before they were successfully eased across.

DON'T STICK MOTHER FOR EXTRA POSTAGE

CHUGIAK: Nobody wants Mother to receive her Mother's Day card postage due!

Chugiak postmaster, Paul Swanson, warns that this will be the case unless people start checking to see if their cards have sufficient postage before mailing them.

Swanson pointed out that many of the modern greeting cards are made of materials that make them too heavy to be mailed with a five cent stamp or an eight cent airmail stamp. He said that he has had to send many of them on "Postage Due".

So if you don't want Mother to have to pay the postman to get her card, be sure that you have enough postage before mailing it.

GENTLY DOES IT! ONE THIRD OF THE CHUGIAK LDS CHAPEL EASES AROUND THE CORNER OF SKI ROAD AND GLENN HIGHWAY ON THE WAY TO ITS NEW SITE ON THE WHALEY HOMESTEAD.

CHUGIAK ELEMENTARY PTA CALLS SPECIAL MEETING

OLD CHUGIAK: There will be a special meeting of the Chugiak Elementary School PTA on Friday, May 12th, at 7:30pm.

This meeting has been called to determine the validity of the action taken at the regular meeting of May 2nd, which called for PTA sponsorship of a recreational program to be held in connection with the proposed library program.

The above action was voted upon at the May 2nd meeting after the chair had been turned over to the newly installed President so that he might close the meeting.

POLICE INVESTIGATE BREAK IN AT CARR'S

EAGLE RIVER: State Police were called to investigate a break-in to a freezer van, located in an alley near Carr's market in Eagle River.

The break-in apparently took place sometime between 6pm on Saturday, May 6th and noon on May 7th.

A padlock had been broken off the door, and an estimated $120 worth of frozen food items taken.

The police are investigating.

FUNDS FOR BOWLING ALLEY SLOW TO COME

EAGLE RIVER: The group attempting to raise enough money to keep the Eagle River Bowl from going out of that only three days remain until the deadline given by the holder of the mortgage.

So far only forty persons have indicated that they would be willing to invest $500 in an association which would purchase the property and building and then form a corporation to operate it.

It was believed that if $20,000 were committed by responsible individuals, the mortgage holder would extend the deadline to raise the remainder of the money.

Would-be investors are reminded that they will be held to their commitment only if enough money is raised to purchase the property.

Anyone wishing further information may call the Eagle River Bowl, or see Lucille Fly or Bill Watkins.
