LOCAL YOUTH TO WALK FOR BIAFRA

CHUGIAK: Around two dozen students from Chugiak High School will be joining the 2,000 plus young people from the Anchorage area who will be marching for the Children of Biafra this coming Saturday.

The much publicized walk

The much publicized walk will be to help raise money to buy food and medicine for the starving children of that war-torn African nation.

This movement, which has been successful in a number of cities in the "South 48" will be put to a test in Alaska for the first time on Seturate.

Saturday,
The participating students are going around the community asking friends and neighbors for pledges of money, which will be donated to the fund for the Biafrian children. The pledge is usually 10¢ per mile but can be more or less. The student will then start out on Saturday and walk along a prescribed course.

PLANS TOLD TO DEVELOP LITTLE LEAGUE FIELD

OLD CHUGIAK: An effort will be made this summer to bring the Mile 21 Little League field up to tournament specifications, according to Mr. Herbert Goedel, President of the Knik Little League.

Goedel said that if these standard are met, the Chugiak Area would be eligible to host the District Tournament,

The first step in upgrading will the the installation of chain link fencing. Goedel said that the Mt. McKinley fence Company of Anchorage has offered to donate the fence material. Goedel will pick up the fencing on Thursday, but will need volunteer labor to install it.

There will have to be extensive improvements made in order to meet the tournament requirements Goedel pointed out, and he hoped that other clubs and organizations in the community would pitch

PARENTS AGREE ON SPANKING

BIRCHWOOD: A small group of parents who met last Thursday at the Birchwood Elementary School, voted to adopt the recommendation of the Steering Committee concerning descipline of students in the 7th grade.

The Committee had recommended that teachers be authorized to administer corporal punishment (i.e. spanking) to students at their own discretion but this only if the child's parents had signed a slip granting the school administration permission to take this action.

The group also ovted that the committee recommend to the school administration that these permission slips be presented to the parents for signature at the time the students were registered for the seventh grade.

BIRCHWOOD: Two Anchorage Veterinarians have offered to conduct a rabies imunization clinic in the Greater Chugiak Area on Tuesday, May 13th at the Birchwood Kennels,

The clinic will begin at 10:00am and continue untill all pets which have been brought down are immunized.

This clinic will be held by Dr. Rasmusson of the Alaska Veterinary Clinic and Dr. Scott, of the Artic Animal Clinic, and is in response to numerious requests following the recent discovery of a rabid cat at the Borough Animal Shelter.

In an exclusive interview to the Knik Arm Courier, Cliff Judkins, Borough Sanitarian, said that while the discovery of a rapid animal is a serious situation, he was distressed at the manner in which the Anchorage news media have created a near panic situation with scare headlines and incorectly guoted statements.

Judkins said that the current rabies scare came about as a result of a cat which after having bitten an attendant at the Borough Animal shelter was found to have rabies.

was found to have rables.

He said that the cat was brought to the pound on April 15th and died on April 23rd.

It was sent to the Artic Health Center at Fairbanks, who confirmed that the cat was rabid. He stated that there has been as yet no other positive case of rabies in the area. The rabbit which received headline treatment in the Anchorage newspapers was suspect only because it had been caught in the vicinity of the borough where the rabid cat had come from. The rabbit was a small wild snowshoe hare, and had been caught by some children, and had subsequently died. At the time the children caught the rabbit it was being chased by a large grey cat. Since the owner of the original rabid cat had said that her cat had been in the company of a grey feline from time to time, it was thought best to investigate the rabbit on the off chance that there might be some connection.

Judkins said that they are observing a dog at the pound who has exhibited some symptoms which could be attributed to rabies. However, he pointed out, they are also classic to at least a half a

OPAG NEWS

By: Pat Sherman, Community Aide for OPAG

The correct date for our Palmer trip is this Saturday, May 10th. Those of you who have your own transportation may meet us in Chugiak at either Peg Tissication's, or Pat Sherman's at the before 2:00pm. The bus will make pick-ups at these two points to transport us on to Palmer. Those without transportation to the pick-up points will be brought here by our local drivers.

We hope to have and extraout to support the new OPAG group being formed in Palacer. If you plan to attend, please call us. We will try to contact all members before the end of the week.

Our program has been going along at a steady forward pace. We are always looking for new members. We have learned that some people hesitate to call us because they are not sure if they are elligible to join our group. Being fifty five years or older is the only requirement. Your income, or whether it be large or small, has no bearing on eligibility.

The charge for joining is the small fee of friendship. This includes a smile, a handshake, and perhaps a chance to help a fellow member if an opportunity presents itself.

tunity presents itself.

A days outing, and a new friend can help us move out of our own little rut. We all need a little stirring once in a while.

Last week we took some members into the Anchorage office for an interview with the Daily News reporter. Besides telling what the OPAG program has done for them, they gave some very interesting highlites on their work life and travels throughout Alaska. This should be very interesting reading.

Your workers are paid for four hours per day, but we never know when the time clock starts or stops. We put in the extra hours because we want this program to succeed in a big way. We want the Greater Chuglak Area to continue to be held up as an example of community pride and achievement.

If you are in our age group, have a suggestion or problem please call us. We will do our best to assist you. We welcome suggestions, and assistance from the younger people too.

Goedel explained the reason that the Mile 21 diamond had been selected for upgrading in preference to the one at Eagle River. He said that there was more room for parking available at the former location, and also that the land at Mile 21 belonged to the residents of the Greater Chugiak Area (administered by the Chugiak Benefit As-sociation) while the one at Eagle River was on Borough School Property, and any improvements made there would have to be with the approval of the Borough. He concluded by saying that a meeting of all the Knik Lit-tle League Board of Directors had been called for Wednesday at his home in Eagle River at 8:00pm. This includes managers, coaches, Secretary, President and the Secretary of the Auxiliary and umpires.

Judkins stated that the present borough law does not require any pets other than dogs be immunized against rabies. He did point out that rabies can be contracted by any warm blooded animal and has even been found in hawks and owls. He advises that anyone not had their pet immunized against rabies to do so, and to keep all pets confined to their property. If a second case of rabies should be discovered within the Borough, then he could declare a quarantiue, which would be of 180 day duration. During this period all stray animals would be picked up. Judkins stated that a report that all strays would be shot was incorrect.

The area in which the cat which touched ou the rables scare came from is Arctic Blvd. between Lights Blvd. and International Airport Rd.

SUNDAYS, 3:00pm to 6:00pm

Dear Martha.

Four months ago my hus-and died, ending sixteen years of a very unhappy marriage.

I won't go into the details of all this man put me through, it is enough to say that the only thing that prevented me from seeking a divorce was that our relivion forbids it. I can't pretend that his death has brought me any sorrow, it was more like a realase from prison.

So why do I write to Martha? you ask, here is my problem.

A man whom I have met at work has asked me to marry him. He is everything my late husband was not, and I know he will make a good home for me and the children. My sister says it is too soon after the death of my husband to be thinking of remarrying. She says that I should have a period of mourning out of respect for him.

Now, Martha, she knows the kind of a marriage we had. In fact it was she who time and again talked me into staying with him when I was ready to give up despite my religion.

I could ask this man to walt a year, and I am sure he would, but must I put off being happy after so many years of being miserable?

Torn apart

Dear Torn Apart, I think the time has come for you to stop listening to your sister and think of yourself.

It is obvious that since it is not a matter of religion that dictates how soon you may remarry, it was her concern of how matters "would look" to others that the dictates of your religion that prompted her to talk you into continuing a marriage that you obviously wanted to terminate.

You admit that you do not mourn the death of your husband, and had no respect for him while he was alive, so why pretend to do so now that he is dead.

Make your marriage plans without any regard to what your sister says, it doesn't concern anyone but you and your future husband and of course your children, whom it appears will benefit from living in a home where there is love and respect instead of resentment.

Sincerely.

Martha Council

SEN. STEVENS TO BACK YOUTH CORPS

WASHINGTON - Sen. Ted Stevens said today he has co-sponsored a bill that would es-tablish a Youth Conservation Corps. ".

The corps would provide summer employment opportunities for the youth in conservation programs in national park lands, national refuges, national forests and areas administered by the Bureau of Land Management. The program would be open to all young men and women. The senator said. "If the funds for this project are available. Alaska could put many hundreds of young people to work during a summer on need-ed conservation projects.

This is true, even if we utilize every available Alaskan youth for this work. The magnitude of the task in Alaska is that great."

WITNESSES ATTEND ASSEMBLY

FAIRBANKS: "What is hap pening in religion today? This is a question of the lips of many, 'New Morality' and many. 'New Morality' and civil disobedience have becivil disobedience have be-come commonplace in rel-igion. Is this good for man and approved by God?"

This was the subject of con-siderable discussion at the discussion at the assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Fairbanks April 25-57. The conclusion reaches is one of complete opposition to the modern trend.

In the key discourse of the assembly, Robert L. Hart-man addressed 939 persons on the subject "Law and Order --When and How?". He stat-ed, "Soon God's Kingdon will bring complete and just law and order to mankind' But what should be our attitude to law and order now?"

"Christian principals require us to obey God's laws first, which include the laws on morality plainly stated in the Bible. Nor are we free to obey only the human laws we personally like. Unless a human law directly violates God's law, we must faithfully and respectfully obey those laws", Hartman concluded.

William Bower, who headed the group of delegates from the Greater Chugiak Area, stated that he and other delegates from the local congregations are enthusiastic about this information are are prepared to present it to others. He said, in fact, 23 persons underwent water immersion at the assembly in symbol of their decision to use their lives in the service of God and their fellow man.

"Some of these may call at your door to consider with you what is happening in religion today. They welcome your comments on the sub-ject", he concluded,
