TOK: A man who gave his address as Eagle River was arrested by custom officials at Tok and charges with possession of drugs.

Anthony Larson, age 22, had a quantity of what was believed to be amphetamines in his possession at the time.

While the custom officials were awaiting the arrival of the State Troopers, Larson managed to escape, and ran into a heavily wooded patch nearby. He then headed for the Alaskan Canadian border and attempted to enter Canada, he was refused admittance by Canadian border officials and ten hours later was again captured by the Alaska State Troopers and U.S. Customs officials.

Larson had not been wearing suitable winter garments during the time he was hiding in the wooded area, and was found to be suffering from severely frostbitten feet. He was taken to the Fairbanks Community Hospital, where at last report it was thought that he might lose some toes.

Registration will be January 4th and 5th at the Anchorage Travelodge, from 12 noon until 10pm on each day.

There will be a drivers meeting at the Red Barn at 8:00pm, on Friday, January 7th.

All racers are to be at the starting line at 8:00am on Saturday, January 8th. The first machine is to leave the post at 9:00am.

This year there will be 5 classes that women may compete in. These are WC1, WC 2, WC 3, WC 4 and Mod 1. This is the first year that women can race Mod 1 machines, which include machines up to 295 cc.

There will be trophies and money up to 5 places in each class, plus a trophy for the best time overall.

All entry fee money with the exception of the insurance will be returned to the racers.

Following the race there will be a banquet at the Red Barn.

The cost per person for the banquet is $5.00. The cost of the racers tickets to the banquet is included in their entry fees.

This race is organized each year by a committee of Chugiak Area Women Snowmachine enthusiasts. It is sponsored by the Anchorage Motor Musers.

INFANT SURVIVES RACE WITH STORK

BIRCHWOOD: Tiny three pound, one ounce Sparkle Jones survives in an incubator at Anchorage Community Hospital following a very close race with the stork who decided to arrive three months early.

The child's mother, Mrs. Skip Jones of Birch Drive in Birchwood, began to hemorrhage on Christmas eve. Mrs. Jones was six months pregnant, and her husband lost no time in helping her into the car and heading for the hospital in Anchorage.

When he reached the Glenn Highway, he spotted an Alaskan Trooper. He flagged the trooper down, and explained the predicament. The trooper radioed ahead for the Anchorage rescue medical team who met the Jones with the Ambulance, and transported Mrs. Jones to the Anchorage Community Hospital, where their little daughter was delivered early on Christmas morning.

Two Moose Hit On Ft. Rich.

FT. RICH: While the recent moose hunt on Ft. Richards has reduced the herd by 10 animals, motorists are still getting their share.

Two moose fell victim to the auto last week on the military reservation.

On Tuesday, December 21st, at Mile 8, Loren Todd, of Eagle River struck and killed a moose that wandered out into the Road in front of him.

Damage to his 1967 Dodge was estimated at $850.

Charges Dropped Against Snow Machine Driver

EAGLE RIVER: Charges of operating a show machine on a highway were dropped against Eric Johnson of Aurora Street in Eagle River by the State District Attorney last week.

Johnson had been charged following a collision between an automobile and a snow-machine on Skyline Drive in Eagle River December 5th.

Although the State Law is not exact in its definition of "Highway" in the snow-machine regulation, a member of the District Attorney's Staff believes that it is covered in a section of the law which states that a snow vehicle may not be operated on the Roadway of a City or Borough Street except as may be specifically provided by an ordinance enacted under provisions of AS 05.030.070.

City Street is defined as a highway or part thereof located within the limits of a city or village but does not include an alley.

There is no definition of Borough Street.

Johnson still is charged with operating an unregistered snow machine.

Other aspects of the accident are still being investigated by the Alaska State Troopers.

Fifteen Years Coming Up

New Year editorials are as a rule pretty much the same, reviewing events of the past year, and making promises for the year to come.

For the Courier this marks a milestone as we enter our 15th year of continuous publication, a record that we are proud of.

The biggest news story of the year, is, in our estimation, the defeat of the Unification Charter.

There have been many tragic headlines this year. Although these are the kind that sell newspapers, they are not the kind we like to print.

However, we will continue to print all local news, both good and bad, and promise to continue to maintain an unbroken record of the history of this community as we have since 1956. This is our New Years Resolution to you, our readers.

This will be a ten week course, with classes in Beginning and Intermediate. Open classes will be held if enough interest is shown.

Registration will be on the 8th, starting at noon.

Anyone wishing more information may call 688-2594.

Troopers & Fire Co. Both Get False Alarms

CHUGIAK: Someone with a warped sense of humor called in false alarms to both the Alaska State Troopers and the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Co. last Monday night.

The Fire Company received a call stating that there had been a serious two car accident on the Eklutna Flats at the intersection of the New

They responded with the ambulance, and could find no evidence of any accident. At the same time the State Troopers also received a report of a two car accident, this one supposedly on the Old Palmer Highway at the Knik River bridge. In this instance, there was also no evidence of any such accident.

JUVENILE THREATENS OTHERS WITH GUN: State police were summoned after a juvenile in the Birchwood area had threatened several other youths with a 45 caliber automatic.

FIRE DEPARTMENTS MEET FOR MUTUAL AID PLAN: Representatives of the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company were invited to attend a meeting at the Anchorage Fire Hall to discuss a program of mutual aid between all Fire Departments and Companies.

Hearing On Borough Streets Tonight

ANCHORAGE: Public comment on a proposed official streets and highways plan for the borough will be sought at the Planning and Zoning Commission's Wednesday meeting.

Existing proposes streets and highways are designated as freeways, arterials and collector streets based on existing traffic projections for the area to 1990.

A public hearing on the proposal is scheduled for 7:30pm on Wednesday at the borough office building, 3500 Tudor Road.

Since new information that could affect traffic patterns will become available in late 1972 or early 1973, borough planners have recommended that the official streets and highways plan also be made subject to review at that time.

Copies of the current plan are available in the borough's planning department.

Tell it to Martha

BY: MARTHA COUNCIL

Dear Martha,

I do wish you would set me straight on the customs in this part of the country.

We moved here from another state about two winters ago.

As has always been our custom at Christmas time, we sent Christmas cards to members of our family and to a few close friends back in our home state.

I didn't know what to make of it when I received dozens of cards from neighbors and casual acquaintances...people whom I see almost everyday.

It had not occurred to me to send them cards as we usually send cards only to those who I mentioned.

All year I have worried for fear I may have committed a social blunder. This year, again we have received cards and I wonder if I am obliged to return their greetings. I had not planned to do it, but it embarrasses me to think they may regard me as cheap.

Worried

Dear Worried,

Stop worrying. It is true that many people here, and in other rural communities throughout the United States exchange cards among their neighbors. However, if this has not been your custom and you do not feel any desire to take part in it, I am sure your neighbors will not think any the less of you.

There are many ways of saying Merry Christmas, and sending cards is only one of them.

If you feel like thanking your friends for their cards when you see them, do so, but don't apologize for failing to send one in return.

By the way, I am willing to bet that you came from a fairly large city before moving here...am I right?

Sincerely,

Martha Council
