EAGLE RIVER RECOMENDED FOR COMMUNITY CENTER SITE

EAGLE RIVER: The Greater Anchorage Borough Planning Department has recommended a location near the Eagle River Shopping Center as a location for a Community Center and Borough Offices.

This recommendation was · made at a public meeting held last Thursday at the Eagle River Elementary School, Although this recommendation was contrary to the wishes expressed by local residents who attended a preliminary meeting held at Chuglak High last November, the planning department felt that their recommendation was in the best interests of the community.

Those who attended the earlier meeting has unanimously expressed the feeling that the soon to be replaced Chugiak Elementary School was the best choice for such a Center because using an existing building would be more economical.

As a result of a feasibility study the Planning Department that although the location they were recommending was the most costly, they felt that cost should not be the deter-uining factor, and that the availability to the majority of the people should be the deciding factor.

It was felt that in the long run the Borough would save by figuring the rent paid for office space, the time involved in travel from the Anchorage offices to this area. the cost of maintenance of vehicles. All of this would amount to an estimated figure of $421.300.00 by the year of 1990. Of this $212,200.00 would cover rent and the remainder $208,100,00 the cost of travel. This was assuming that borough service would remain at the present level and not increase. The above figures do not include the cost to taxpayers who have to drive to Anchorage to conduct business at the Borough office.

It was pointed out that the cost of the Community Center could be handled through a non profit building corporation, or financed through a bond issue. The Planning Department favored the nonprofit coproration.

One proposal which was brought to light at this meet ing was made to the Eagle River Volunteer Fire Company by Bob Broadwater of Eagle River. The Fire Company would be likely to utilize 5,000 sqnare feet of the Community Center for a new Fire Station, The cost of the Broadwater property was · quoted from the letter to the Fire Company at $130,000.00. This did not include the cost of repairs to the building which was damaged in a fire last year.

It was pointed out that when the location of the Community Center was approved that all other bids would have to be considered.

Ed Willis, local Borongh Assemblyman stated that the matter would have to be presented to the Assembly and would probably be in the form of an ordinance, subject to public hearing before any final action is taken.

He said that at the rate that things are moving this should be in the neighborhood of six weeks to two months.

Willis said that the recommendation of a location near (CONT PAGE 2 COL 1) to reach the Long Distance Operator by dialing "110", however this will take even longer than in the past due to the reduced number of operators on duty as the result of the introduction of Direct Distance Dialing.

PARKA TO BE GIVEN AWAY FOR M.O.D.

CHUGIAK: The local March of Dimes Committee will be raffeling off a velveteen parka as one of the money raising projects for the Greater Chugiak Area.

Tickets will be going on sale next week, with the drawing to be held at the March of Dines Dime a Dish, to be held on Sunday, February 27th, at Chugiak High.

The Dime A Dis': is held in this area in place of the traditional Mothers March. The difficulty in getting to many of the local homes was given as the reason for abandoning the Mothers March, according to Mrs. Betty Augustson, one of the local Maich of Dimes Chairmen,

Other methods of raising funds is the cannisters which are placed in most local business'establishments and the mailers which have been sent to local residents.

Mrs. Augustson said that anyone interested in giving a Silver Tea to benefit the March of Dimes should call her at 694-2760 or Mrs. Rose Selk at 688-2920.

She also urged everyone not to forget to return their mailers with their donation.

TRAVEL IN PARK TO BE CURTAILED

The National Park Service is planning to curtail automobile traffic on the road into Wonder Lake in Mount McKinley National Park, the national director said in an interview.

George B. Hartzog Jr. told U. S. News and World Report that he anticipates "a great surge of automobile traffic" into the park in view of the completion of the Anchorage -Fairbanks highway.

"Our ecologists tell us that with heavy automobile traffic along the single road into Wonder Lake, wildlife will leave the road." Hartzog said. "So we're planning to stop the cars at Savage River." He said a free shuttle service is being considered to carry passengers to various points inside the park.

Asked in the interview why more roads were not built, he said, "We're trying to avoid more cars. I think we have about reached the end of this cycle of more roads and more trails, more roads and more trails. And I think we have got to look to other means of access."

in some areas, cable railways or tramways or railroads are under consideration, he said.

YOUTH CORPS PROJECT SLATED FOR KENAI

A 24-student'Youth Conservation Corps project will be established at the Kenai Work Center in the Chugach and administered by Forest Service personnel, according R-Alaska.

originally authored by Sen. systems, he said. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. establishing a Youth Conservation Corps to employ young people between the ages of 15 and 18 in summer conservation-education programs on public lands and water areas.

The corps will be open to youths of both sexes and of all social, economic and racial classifications. They will be employed for a period not to nominal salary.

National Forest supervisor, coming this year. expressed pleasure at the announcement that the Chugach National Forest would have an opportunity to administer such a program.

The Kenai Work Center on the Kenai Ranger District is well suited for such a program, he said. "We are to make necessary improvements such as expanding living quarters and naking necessary adjustnents to house and feed the CC enrollees.

At this time, Coster said, we re anticipating enrolling 24 udents under the program. when the present expansion is completed we will have accomodations for 18 boys and six girls.

All recruiting and hiring National Forest near Seward will be done through area schools. Due to the location of the work center on the Kenai to Sen. Douglas Anderson and Danile students with an opportunity to take a second look at poetry. The poetry of Doug Anderson is backed up with music, most of it original, by Dan McCrimmon.

Funds for the "Poetry in the Schools Project;; were provided by a special grav. through the Alaska State Council on the Arts, from the National Endowment on the Arts.

Anderson and McCrimmon have wide and varied backgrounds from which to draw the verse and music they provide for the students.

Doug Anderson was born in Detroit Mich. He studied at the University of Denver and Dartmouth College. Over the last half domen years Anderson augmented his self- employment as a writer photorapher with part-time jobs in book stores, restaurants, construction and even as a merchant seaman.

His poems have been published in small literary magazines where most U.S. writers are first seen in print. Dan McCrimmon is from demanding a cut or he will tell the folks. How can I get out of this. If the folks find out, we'll all get clobbered. TRAPPED!

Dear Trapped,

Now that your eight year old conscience has been bothering you, I think that you had better forego the fun of being with your gang and start earning the money your parents have been paying you.

The example you and your sister have been setting for your little brother has inspired him to become a blackmailer.

Since your sister has been capable-enough to do the work you have been paid to do. I think you might be able to persuade your parents to let her take over the responsibility which you have been shirking and let her get the full amount which they have been paying you.

To do this, you would have to make a clean breast of this deception, even if it means getting clobbered.

CHANGE PROPOSED FOR YOUTH CAMP

A proposal to convert Alc. tra Youth Camp, near Wasili into a child-care center wa included in Gov. Egan's bud get address to the state legislature this month.

He also proposed to shift the operation of the center from the Division of Corrections to the Social Services Department.

'Camp director, Wayne Pinquoch, said this week he is not sure how the proposal will affect the center, although he pointed out that a jurisdiction change to Social Services would make the center eligible for a greater share of federal funds.

More details on the proposal are expected soon.

SATELLITE TO CARRY NATIVE STORIES

FAIRBANKS - Alaska native storytellers continue to practice their art and are reaching larger audiences than ever - through satellite communications.

Using studios of the University of Alaska's KUAC-FM radio station, and the ATS-1 satellite, native storytellers each week contribute stories broadcast to villages throughout the state.

Called the Village Circle Story Exchange, the project is part of a daily two-hour block of educational programming over the satellite, and is being conducted jointly by the University of Alaska, the Alaska Library Association, and the Fairbanks North Star Borough Library.

Programs are beamed from the KUAC studios on the Fairbanks campus to the satellite then ,"bounced" back to the 24 villages in the project. Facilities used in the biomedical program providing medical information to villages are used for the educational programming.

The story exchange program is heard weekly from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Wednesday. Each week, two natives from Fairbanks meet with Patsy Willey, director of the borough library, to tell stories. Village dwellers can 54 respond with questions or comments about the stories, and then contribute their own stories. Many are told in English and the native tongue.
