

BUTTE BUSINESSES SEEK HELP WITH BRIDGE PROBLEM

GROUPS PLAN MEET SCH. BD. CANDIDATE NIGHT

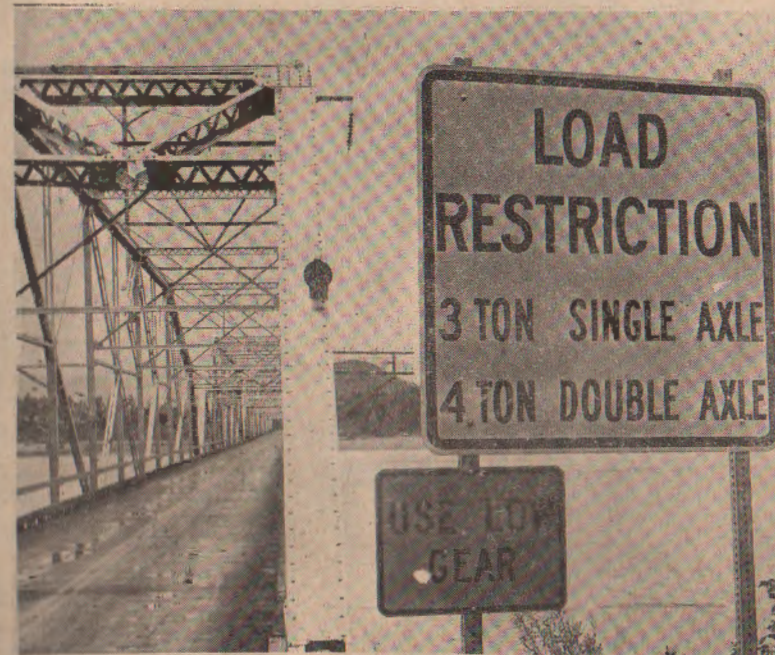

BIRCHWOOD: An opportunity to meet the candidates to the Greater Anchorage Area Borough School Board and to ask them questions on pertinent issues is being sponsored by a group of local organizations.

The meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, September 28th, at 7:30pm at Chugiak High School in the multipurpose room.

Sponsoring the meeting is the Chugiak Methodist Church, the local Chamber of Commerce, the local unit of the League of Women Voters, and the Chugiak Children's Services.

All the forty candidates to the school board will be invited to attend.

RE APPORTIONED AREAS STILL VOTE IN CAAR

BUTTE: The residents of the Butte near Palmer have requested assistance in getting the Department of Highways to make certain changes in signs at the approaches of the old Knik River Bridge.

William B. Barnhardt, a businessman in the Butte area has enlisted the aid of Bob Kallenberg of Chugiak, candidate to the State House of Representatives, and Harold Bariko, candidate to the State Senate, both Republicans, in getting the Highway Department to change the signs which are now posted.

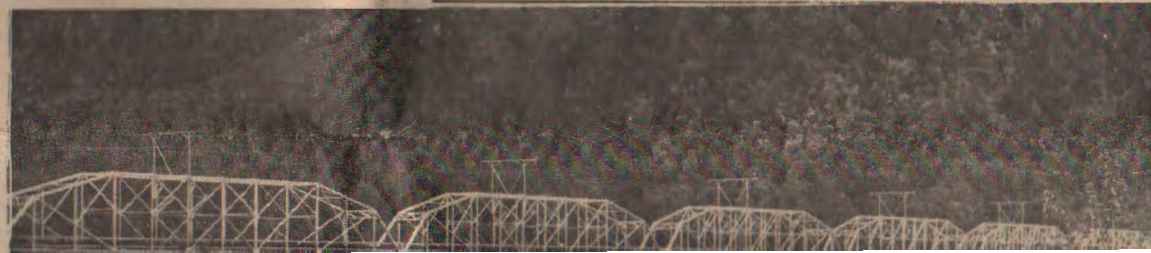

According to Kallenberg, who personally has inspected the signs, the first sign on the Glenn Highway alternate, reads simply, "Dangerous bridge ahead..9 miles", no more. Nine mile further down the road, right at the approach to the bridge is the sign which indicates that the bridge is dangerous only when the load exceeds the restriction of 3 ton, single axle or 4 ton double axle.

Banhardt and other Butte residents feel that the first sign is misleading, and has caused many tourists to turn back at the sign, before they can learn that the bridge is perfectly safe to passenger vehicles and light trucks.

They are asking that the sign giving the load limit of the bridge be placed at the same

RE APPORTIONED AREAS STILL VOTE IN GAAB

ANCHORAGE: Residents of the Old Chugiak, Birchwood and Peters Creek areas will still vote in the Anchorage Borough Election, according to Borough Clerk, Mary Nettleton.

Ms. Nettleton said some confusion exists among the residents of those precincts because of the reapportionment which placed them in State legislative District 6 for the Primary and General Election in November.

Reapportionment did not pertain to the Borough Boundaries, only to State Election Districts, she said.

Although residents of the above listed areas voted in the Mat-Su Legislative district, they are not in the Mat-Su Borough, but still in the Greater Anchorage Area Borough, just as in past years.

COMMUNITY CENTER EXPLAINED TO CHAMBER

EAGLE RIVER: The proposition which would authorize the Borough Assembly to provide a Community Center Building for the Greater Chugiak Area, was explained to the local Chamber of Commerce last Monday at their regular meeting.

Ed Pysher, Staff Director for the Greater Anchorage Area Borough addressed the Chamber and attempted to answer questions on the subject.

According to Pysher, the voters will be asked to authorize the Assembly to use whatever method they deem advisable to them. This could include lease-purchase of an existing building, bonding or obtaining a loan from the FHA or a bank.

Pysher said that this would not be paid through a mill levy, but that rental of the offices in the building would defray the debt and pay for the upkeep of the building.

The amount that the voters are asked to authorize the Assembly to spend for the building is $350,000.00.

Pysher said that the building would not be a Community Center in the sense that it would be available for meeting space for local organizations. Rather it is planned as a means of housing local offices of the Borough under one roof. These would include the Department of Health, the Department of Environmental Quality, Animal Control, as well as providing housing for equipment and personnel for the Fire Department.

Voters in both Service Districts 9 and 8 (Chugiak and Eagle River) will be asked to approve the proposition.

Pysher said that the chance that the rental from the building would not meet cost of defraying the debt and upkeep and that the residents of the area might be taxed to make up the difference as "practically nonexistent";

VICTORY FINALLY COMES TO MUSTANGS

ANCHORAGE: A gridiron victory finally came to the Chugiak Mustangs last Friday when they held the Dimond Lynx scoreless and came out on the top side of a 13 to 0 score.

The hapless Lynx added to their own troubles with a total of 12 penalties which cost them a total of 120 yards.

The first Chugiak touch-

can learn that the bridge is perfectly safe to passenger vehicles and light trucks.

They are asking that the sign giving the load limit of the bridge be placed at the same location as the "Dangerous Bridge" sign, so that drivers may completely understand the conditions under which the bridge may be dangerous.

A letter has been drafted by Kallenberg, Bartko and Barnhardt to Bruce A. Campbell, Commissioner of Highways, calling his attention to the problem, and informing him that petitions calling for public hearings on the matter are being circulated.

ADULT BASIC ED CLASSES TO START

DRILLING RIG SNAGS PHONE LINES

EAGLE RIVER: A 1972 Dodge with a well drilling rig mounted on it overturned after snagging two telephone lines last Friday, September 8th.

The rig was owned by A&L Drilling of Eagle River, and was driven by Donald L. Holsclaw, of Birchwood.

According to the Alaska State Troopers, the vehicle was traveling with the boom extended and when it tried to pass under the phone lines snagged the lines.

This laid the rig over on its side, causing an estimated $500 damage to the equipment and $100 damage to the phone lines.

The driver was cited for traveling with too high a load. There were no injuries according to the Alaska State Troopers.

OLD CHUGIAK: A remote location doesn't appear to hurt the Sadler's Furniture Store, which is enjoying a brisk business since their opening two weeks ago.

Owned and operated by Mr. Ted Sadler and his wife Susan, the store is located on Little Peters Creek Road in the building formerly occupied by the First Baptist Church of Birchwood.

The store, which occupies both the upper floor and basement of the Church building, offers "like new" quality used furniture as well as new

Tell it to Martha

By: Martha Council

Dear Martha,

Something that happened the other day has been driving me crazy.

I stopped at the store to buy a newspaper from one of the vending machines.

I had just taken my paper out when a woman I know just slightly yelled "Stop don't close the door"! I was so startled that I just stood there with the door of the machine open while she took a newspaper out.

I must have had a shocked expression on my face, because she said.... "Oh come on, it's no Federal case."

I still stared at her with my mouth open, and she said "I just didn't happen to have any change... quit worrying the newspaper company isn't going to go broke over a dime".

Martha I have been kicking myself over and over for letting her involve me in that petty cheat. I would have been glad to lend her a dime, even give it to her rather than swindled that newspaper.

I know the newspaper company must expect some of that type of cheating, but I just hate having been a party to it.

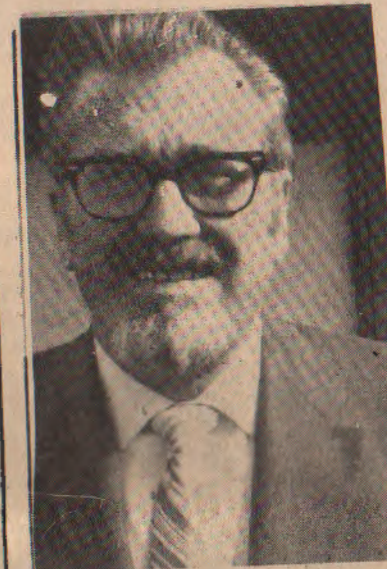

Unwilling accomplice

Dear Unwilling,

That was a sneaky thing for her to do, and I don't blame you for being upset.

Even though the newspaper company probably will never miss that dime, you can save your own conscience by dropping another dime in that same machine and open and close the door without removing a paper.

Sincerely,
Martha Council

EAGLE RIVER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT IS UP

EAGLE RIVER: The enrollment at the Eagle River Elementary School is now up to 364 students, according to Mr. J. E. Whitmore, Principal.

The playground restoration is nearly complete and the lights are up.

The boys and girls soccer teams are now practicing, and are looking for competition, according to Whitmore.

Mr. Whitmore mentioned that all students in the school are undergoing a reading testing program. This program is taking place in all schools in the district, and each child will be evaluated on the basis of the test results.

BOB ROGERS (left) AND KEN BELL (right) TWO OF THE THREE LOCAL MEN RUNNING FOR THE SCH-

ment of the Church building, offers "like new" quality used furniture as well as new items. Many of the used pieces have been reupholstered, and refinished and are hard to tell from the new items.

At present, Sattlers have mostly used furniture, but are awaiting a large shipment of new furniture which they will offer for sale at discount prices.

They plan to carry well known brands of moderately priced furniture which they will be able to sell at prices far below stores in Anchorage.

In addition to stock on hand they have catalogues available whereby the customer can order anything not in stock.

The Sattlers have been in Alaska only a few months, having come from New Jersey where they owned several furniture stores. They became tired of the "rat race", and came to Alaska to get away from it. When they arrived they found that even Anchorage as too crowded for them, and when they learned that the church property was for sale bought it, and opened their store out in the "boondocks".

The Sattlers have one child, Max, aged two. They spell the name of their store without

The Club voted to sponsor Kathy Pyles, a senior at Chugiak High School as a candidate to the Miss Chugiak-Eagle River Scholarship Pageant.

The next meeting of the Club will be Thursday, September 28th, at the home of Georgie Preg on Jayhawk Dr. in Birchwood.

LAND BUYERS ARE WARNED

ANCHORAGE: An increasing number of individuals who have open to entry sites are listing them for sale with local realtors or are running advertisements in the newspapers.

Some are asking $4,000 to $5,000 for a site with no improvements of any kind, and on which a filing fee of $10.00 and a few years of annual rental of $40.00 per year has been paid.

The individual buying one of these sites will be faced with the requirement of having it surveyed at his own expense and at his own initiative within ten years of the original effective date of the lease, then paying the appraised value of the land at the time of the original entry.

The Division of Lands has noted one "ad" that stated that two fresh water streams ran through the site which also had 400 feet of other water frontage on one side. If the two fresh water streams have water flowing or frozen within the banks year round, there is danger that the individual buying the site will find himself with very little land when the survey is made.

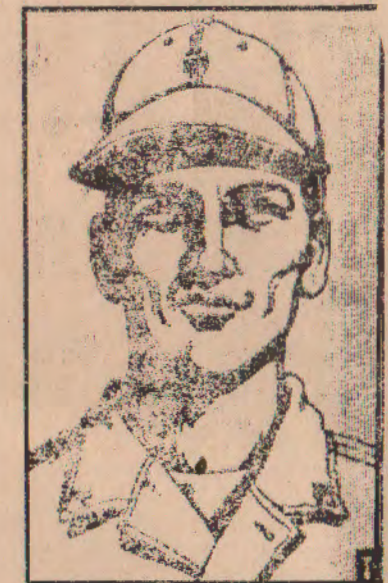

The maximum water frontage allowed by law is 400 feet.

In this case both sides of each creek could qualify as water frontage as well as the 400 feet on one side as described in the entry which would greatly reduce the acreage allowed.

A case of this kind was adjudicated recently by the Division of Lands when a surveyor found creeks on an entry site which also had 400 feet of lake frontage. The entryman was given the choice of taking about an acre of his original with 400 feet of water frontage or cancelling his lease and selecting another site. He chose to cancel the lease.
