PARENTS WARNED TO WATCH FOR "DOCTORED" HALLOWEEN TREATS

ANCHORAGE: Parents of children who will be out tonight trick or treating are urged to advise their youngsters not to taste their treats until mom and dad have a chance to look them over.

The word of caution comes from the offices of Borough Mayor Jack Roderick and Superintendent of Schools Joe D. Montgomery, who are concerned that some youngsters

While Anchorage has yet to have a serious problem along these lines, the two public officials believe in following the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

CHILDREN NOT HURT WHEN THROWN FROM CAR

OLD CHUGIAK: Two brothers, aged 2 and 4 were not injured when they were thrown from the car in which they were riding last Monday, October 29th at 8:15am.

The boys, Richard and Russell Oakley were taken to Providence Hospital for observation by the Chugiak Volunteer Fire Company ambulance.

They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Oakley of Birchwood. Mrs. Oakley, who was driving the car was apparently not injured.

ANCHORAGE: Ed Willis, Borough Assemblyman from the Greater Chugiak Area, was elected President of the Assembly of the Greater Anchorage Area Borough by a 6 to 4 vote last Monday night.

Willis said that he was very appreciative of this honor which his fellow assemblyman had bestowed on him, and that he would exercise the duties of his office to the best of his ability.

Willis commented on the inference made in both of the Anchorage newspapers that his election violated a so called "gentleman's agreement" that the office of assembly president would rotate each year between assemblyman from inside to outside the city.

"That agreement went out the door when Ben Marsh was elected to fill the un-

FIVE ARRESTED ON LOCAL BURGLARY CHARGE

EAGLE RIVER: Following an anonymous tip, Alaska State Troopers descended on the R. C. Pool hall last Friday, October 26th, and arrested three adults and two juveniles in connection with the October 18th burglary of the Book Taxidermy and Sporting Goods Store.

Those arrested were, Jeffrey L. Crow age 18, Scott Patric Lace 18, and Guy Edmundson, 18 all three of Eagle River, along with two juveniles.

The five were found to be in possession of stolen goods taken from the local shop valued at $1,100. They also had in their possession a quantity of hallucinogenic drugs.

The pool hall in which the arrest took place is located in the Broadwater Building, only two doors down from the burglarized taxidermy shop.

A spokesman for the State Troopers stated that the tip they received informed them that the stolen property was located at the pool hall.

JUNIOR HIGH CONCERT IS THIS FRIDAY

BIRCHWOOD: The Chugiak Junior High Band and Chorus will present their annual fall concert this Friday, November 2nd, starting at 8:00pm.

The event will be held in the multi-purpose room at the school.

No admission will be charged, and the public is invited to attend.

Alaska State Troopers, who are investigating the accident, said that Mrs. Oakley had apparently been forced off the road by another car. The accident took place at mile 19.5 on the Old Glenn Highway.

CHUGIAK FIFTH GRADER WINS PUMPKIN

EAGLE RIVER: A nine year old fifth grade student at the Chugiak Elementary School was the winner of the annual pumpkin seed guessing contest, sponsored by the local library.

Area youngsters were invited to turn their guesses as to the number of seeds in a pumpkin which was displayed at the library during the past week.

Jody Brion came the closest out of the 347 children who turned in their guesses.

Jody guessed 451 seeds. The pumpkin was found to have 461 seeds when it was opened and the seeds counted last night. For a prize he will get the pumpkin, which has now been carved into a Jack O Lantern.

Jody is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brion, of the Bestview Trailer Court in Old Chugiak.

was elected to fill the uncompleted term of Jim Garrigues"; Willis said. "The members of the assembly understand that the office is best filled by the man the majority feels is best qualified to hold it."

He added that he feels that each assemblyman is elected to represent the whole borough, not interests inside or outside the city.

He said that the so called agreement had no binding effect, and pointed out that all of the Assemblymen had been nominated, and that all but Ben Leonard and himself had withdrawn their names.

He denied any knowledge that the election of an assemblyman from outside the city was a plot to "get even" for the city's opposition to the proposed borough re-apportionment.

Willis, a resident of the Eagle River area has served on the Borough Assembly since 1966. He was assembly president during the year of 1969-70.

Tell it to Martha

BY: MARTHA COUNCIL

Dear Martha,

I would like to hear your views on this business of "Trick or Treat".

It seems to me that parents are encouraging their children to become beggars and vandals when they permit them to go out from door to door asking for hand-cuts.

I have seen children so young they had to be carried by a parent or an older sister or brother decked out in costume and dragged from door to door.

One lady I know actually drives her children to town and turns them loose on some street to beg. She says she doesn't want them wandering around out here in the cold where houses are so far apart.

I think the whole business is disgraceful and commercialized. If I had any children of my own I would never permit it.

A Halloween Witch

Dear Witch,

The custom of "Trick or treating" on Halloween has become just as much a part of the American scene as Santa Claus or the Easter Bunny and is about as harmless.

Very few of the little tots you speak of would resort to vandalism if the treat is not forthcoming.

Halloween in years gone by makes things today appear tame when it comes to mischief. If you don't believe this, just ask some of the old timers who they celebrated Halloween.

I personally believe that most people look forward to having the youngsters troop up to their door in costume and would be disappointed if none came.

As to taking babies out in costume, I agree that this is rushing things a little.

Also, I believe parents should not take their children to other neighborhoods or cities.

An invasion from another location could run a person short of goodies.

Your admission that you have no children of your own indicates that you have not had the opportunity to see the charm of Halloween through the eyes of a child.

I am sure that if you were a parent you would be no different from the rest of us.

Sincerely,
Martha Council

FISH REARING AT CRYSTAL LAKE HATCHERY

JUNEAU — The Crystal Lake fish hatchery at Petersburg is operating on schedule and plans to have approximately 800,000 king and coho salmon smolt available for planting next summer, the Department of Fish and Game announced today.

Alex McRea, chief of the department's hatchery section, said that the 800,000 salmon smolt will be used to fill the stocking requirements for Southeastern Alaska next year. The fish will go to various projects operated by the department and also will be released at the hatchery to aid in brood stock development.

"The hatchery also met the stocking requirements of the using projects during this first year of operation and we believe that the facility is now capable of operating at its projected capacity," McRea said.

Fish from the hatchery were stocked in the Mendenhall Ponds project near Juneau and in the saltwater salmon rearing pens at Sitka.

McRea said that hatchery crews have upgraded fish transporting equipment during the first season of operation and that the system is now functioning very well.

"In the last two deliveries, only 38 fish were lost out of a total of 110,000 moved. This is

LIMIT IS PROPOSED FOR SHOPPING CENTERS ETC.

WASHINGTON D.C.: New shopping centers, ball parks, highways, airports and anything else that attracts large numbers of cars or planes would be banned if they cause violations of clean air standards under regulations proposed Friday by the Environmental Protection Agency.

EPA proposed state review of planned "indirect sources" of air pollution under a court order won by the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), a citizen environmental group.

Meanwhile, NRDC has renewed its legal attack by charging that EPA was moving too slowly and was being influenced and impeded by the White House Office of Management and Budget.

In a petition filed Wednesday, NRDC asked a federal appeals court to cite EPA for contempt of court for missing an Oct. 15 deadline to propose its regulations, and to enjoin the OMB from hindering EPA's issuance of further regulations.

At a news conference Friday, however, EPA administrator Russell E. Train denied that his agency's action was delayed by OMB influence and that EPA

THE WIDOW'S MITE...

And Jesus sat over the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.
 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing.
 And he called him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury:
 For all they did cast in of their abundance, but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Life
 Most of us are concerned with the miracle of life only when birth or death calls it to our attention. Until we have some reason to do so, we do not consider the wonderful workings of the heart and vital organs which enable us to function as thinking, active human beings.

Some who have concerned themselves with the workings of the human body have said that we begin to die the moment we are born. Others say that we are growing in some way until the moment that we breathe our last. For some of us, the second interpretation is preferable. If we cut a finger, we treat it, keep it clean and know that it will soon be repaired. Should it not heal properly, or in due time, we become concerned, as we should. Something is wrong and what we have always taken for granted is not taking place.

So, consider life for what it is, a wonderful experience. Make the very best of it. Wherever you stand in your journey of life, make the most of today.

influence and said OMB was consulted along with other agencies routinely.

Last Jan. 31, a federal court ruled that state plans, approved by EPA, for achieving national air quality standards must also provide for maintaining those standards and not slipping back into pollution.

Train said Friday that only three jurisdictions — Alabama, Florida, and the territory of Guam — have submitted approvable plans so far.

He issued a proposed federal regulation to control "indirect sources" throughout the rest of the nation, but said approvable state plans could still be substituted later for the federal program.

QUINTAR TO BE SUBJECT OF STUDY

ANCHORAGE: Will year-round school work in Anchorage? A comprehensive study aimed at answering this question is being launched by the Anchorage Borough School District at the direction of the school board.

Peg Benkert, who recently coordinated a two-year statewide survey, has contracted with the district to conduct the "quinter plan" study.

Quinter, meaning a school year composed of five time units, was the major recommendation of the Refocus report submitted to the board in 1972. Under this plan, the school year would consist of five nine-week periods with one or two weeks break between each. A student could attend any four of the units or possibly all five if he wished to accelerate or catch up in subjects where he needed remedial work. These alternatives will be among those under examination. Recognizing the complexity of the problems involved in setting up the quinter system, the board directed the current study to be conducted during the 1973-74 period.

With a target date of June, 1974, the study will be carried out by four committees, now being recruited by Mrs. Benkert who began work last week invited to participate along with other concerned residents.

Membership on the four area committees will be selected and appointed by the superintendent's office to represent business and labor, teachers, students, parents and central administration staff. Members of the existing Refocus Committee will be appointed to the area committees in which they have a specific interest.

"There are many questions we have to answer concerning changes in curriculum, voluntary versus mandatory attendance, cost, and numerous other related aspects," Mrs. Benkert said. "Thorough community discussion is the key to determining whether we wish to develop a new system for educating our children." Mrs. Benkert, who currently serves on both the city council and borough assembly, is a former teacher.

The exact concept and design of the individual plates has been irrevocably confirmed, and we assure you that the subsequent plates in this Commemorative Series will not be produced nor issued until their respective dates of release.

Featured below are the inscriptions appearing on the reverse side of the plates. In their entirety they tell in chronological order the stirring and dramatic story of the four major movements of the American Revolution.

"The Seeds are Sown"

PLATE NO. 1 — ISSUED JANUARY 1, 1973 — In 1775, the people of the American Colonies were becoming convinced that they could no longer be subjected to the dictates of a foreign power. Patrick Henry echoed their convictions, when he issued the ultimate challenge . . . "GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH"

"Independence is Declared"

PLATE NO. 2 — ISSUED JANUARY 1, 1974 — On July 4th, 1776, fifty-six courageous men voted their approval of a Declaration of Independence. This document, the most profound statement of democratic principles ever written, formally announced the dramatic birth of a new . . . The United States of America.

"A Test of Courage"

PLATE NO. 3 — ISSUED JANUARY 1, 1975 — Once declared, Independence had yet to be won. At Valley Forge during the bitter cold winter of 1777 and 1778. General George Washington and his troops placed their trust in their Creator, then successfully pitted their courage against seemingly overwhelming odds.

"Liberty is Proclaimed"

PLATE NO. 4 — ISSUED JANUARY 1, 1976 — "Proclaim Liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." Two centuries later this same proclamation rings. The Liberty Bell with its simple inscription has become one of the most cherished and revered symbols of American freedom.

EXXON PUBLISHES ARTICLES ON ALASKA TUNDRA

ALASKA: Tundra studies in Northern Alaska are the subject of a feature article in the fall issue of Exxon Oil Company's "Exxon USA."

The six-page article includes three full pages of color pictures. The text describes research going on at tundra study centers at Barrow, Prudhoe Bay and the Arctic National Wildlife Range.

Tundra in North America is one of six ecosystems chosen for intensive five-year scrutiny by the International Biological Program, the article points out. The U.S. Tundra Biome Program is well into its third year.

Although not all directly involved in the tundra program, last year some 700 scientists and their assistants made their base at the Naval Arctic Research Lab at Barrow.

The lab director, John Schindler, is quoted as saying, "Almost any science you can name is represented in a sense we've become a national all-discipline laboratory."

For example, at the same site, one expert may be examining the vegetation where a bird is nesting; another may follow the incubation of the bird's eggs; a third may note what insects the bird eats.

They do their own independent research, the article points out, but exchange insights on a day-to-day basis.

BEEF EATING MAY CAUSE SOME CANCERS

NEW YORK: If you have stopped eating beef because of high prices, you may be doing your health a favor. The American Cancer Society's second national conference on cancer of the colon and rectum was told that that because heavy beef consumption has been linked to incidence of bowel cancer by surveys in a number of nations.

Heavy beef eating was related to bowel cancer by Dr. John Berg, who coordinated the data while serving as chief of epidemiological pathology at the National Cancer Research Institute in Bethesda, M.D.

The evidence is mostly statistical. It seems to follow a pattern in a number of nations, including the United States where cancer of the colon and rectum have a higher incidence than any other form of cancer except skin cancer. An estimated 79,000 new cases of bowel cancer are predicted for 1973 by the Cancer Society.
